Public Rights Division

Healthcare Rights & Access Section

Oakland

The Healthcare Rights and Access Section leads proactive healthcare work for the Department of Justice, representing the Attorney General in his independent capacity and coordinating this work with others in the Department, including the Solicitor General's Office, and other legal sections in the Public Rights and Civil Law Divisions. The Attorney General's Healthcare Rights and Access Section has comprehensive authority to work on any matters, including investigations, litigation, and legislation, that will increase and protect the affordability, accessibility, and quality of healthcare in the State of California. The Section is responsible for overseeing and leading all work in the areas of consumer healthcare rights, including healthcare and prescription drug marketing, nonprofit healthcare transactions, violations of antitrust laws in the healthcare context, healthcare privacy and healthcare civil rights, such as reproductive rights and LGBTQ healthcare-related rights.

Interns in the Healthcare Rights and Access Section assist attorneys in difficult and complex legal work related to comment letters, investigations, trials, and appeals. Interns conduct research and writing on a variety of legal issues. Interns may also assist attorneys prepare for oral argument, including attending moot courts and attending hearings.
